CLEVELAND -- Low-income families can get free advice from John Carroll University graduates at a Legal Aid clinic from 9:45 a.m. to noon Saturday (Oct. 6) at the Fatima Family Center, 6600 Lexington Ave.

The attorneys can help with civil problems, like divorce, disputes with landlords, getting special education at public schools, battling predatory lenders and rental centers, getting public benefits and the earned income tax credit, contracts and bankruptcy. They are not able to handle criminal cases.
