What is the McKinney-Vento Homeless Assistance Act?

A federal law that requires school districts to provide an education to homeless students.

Who Qualifies as Homeless?

The law defines homelessness very broadly. Some examples are:

- Those living in homeless shelters;
- Those living with family or friends due to hardship;
- Those living in substandard housing;
- Those living in cars, motels, abandoned buildings, etc.;
- Those children awaiting foster care placement; and
- Homeless teens who do not live with parents and who do not have adult guardians.

What Rights Do Homeless Children Have?

The rights include:

- The right to continue attending the school they were attending when they became homeless;
- The right to transfer to a school closer to where they are residing, if feasible;
- The right to receive transportation to school they were attending even if they now live far from the school;
- The right to enroll in school even if lacking necessary documents
 - Birth certificates
 - School records
 - Immunization records;
- The right to receive special education services if needed; and
- The right to continue attending school while the question of your child's homeless status is resolved. If the school does not agree that your child can attend while the issue is being resolved, seek legal help.

How Can Parents Help?

- Decide which school you would like your child to attend.
- Each school district and charter school in Ohio must have someone (a liaison) to assist homeless students and families. Contact your child's school to find out who this person is and how he or she can assist you.
- If you cannot determine who this person is at your child's school, call the Ohio Department of Education's Office of the Coordinator for Education of Homeless Children and Youths at 614.466.4161.
- Seek legal help if your child's school is not fulfilling its obligations to your child under the McKinney-Vento Act.
